Speaker: Joseph J. Fins, M.D., M.A.C.P., F.R.C.P

Joseph J. Fins is The E. William Davis, Jr. M.D. Professor of Medical Ethics & Professor of Medicine, and Chief of the Division of Medical Ethics at Weill Cornell Medicine, where he is a tenured Professor of Medicine, Professor of Medicine in Psychiatry, Professor of Medical Ethics in Neurology, Professor of Medical Ethics in Rehabilitation Medicine, and Professor of Health Care Policy and Research. He is the founding chair of the Ethics Committee of New York-Presbyterian Weill Cornell Medical Center, where he is an attending physician and Director of Medical Ethics. A member of the adjunct faculty of Rockefeller University and Senior Attending Physician at The Rockefeller University Hospital, he co-directs the Consortium for the Advanced Study of Brain Injury (CASBI) at Weill Cornell Medicine and Rockefeller. In 2014, he served as the Dwight H. Terry Visiting Scholar in Bioethics and visiting Professor in the History of Medicine at Yale. In 2015, he was appointed the Solomon Center Distinguished Scholar in Medicine, Bioethics, and Law at Yale Law School and directs CASBI@YLS. He is currently a Visiting Professor of Law at Yale Law School in addition to his appointment at Weill Cornell Medicine. In addition, he is the president of the International Neuroethics Society.

The James F. Drane Lecture Series is an annual event in which prominent scholars and leaders in the field of bioethics give lectures at the Edinboro campus of PennWest University on various important topics in bioethics. These lectures, in addition to providing ethical insight, knowledge, and leadership, honor the legacy of Professor James F. Drane as one of the founders of the discipline of bioethics.
